ORDER OF COURT SPECIFYING CONDITIONS OF PROBATION

It is the order of the Court that your term of imprisonment imposed after conviction be suspended and that you be placed on probation.

The Court further orders that you shall be on probation until _____, unless sooner discharged. During your term of probation you shall be under the supervision of a Probation Officer of the Court to whom you shall report directly. The following are the conditions of your probation with which conditions you are ordered to observe and comply.

If at any time during your probation you fail to comply with the following Court conditions, your probation may be revoked.

If you violate a condition of probation during the probationary period, a petition to revoke probation may be filed before the earlier of the following:

- (A) One (1) year after the termination of probation.
- (B) Forty-five (45) days after the State receives notice of the violation.

You are advised that the Court may, at any time during your probation, change or modify the Conditions of Probation. That can be done upon the Court's own motion; upon the request of the Probation Department; or upon you own request. The modifications can decrease or increase the severity of your Conditions of Probation.
